

- An orca (killer whale) is not actually a whale, but instead is the biggest member of the dolphin family!
- Killer whales “see” in the ocean by using sound instead of their eyes! This is called echolocation.
- Different pods (groups) of orcas will all have different dialects or “accents” to their calls.