

- During a salmon's life they migrate from rivers where they are born all the way to the ocean to grow, and then travel back to the same river to reproduce!
- Salmon have a lateral line on the side of their body which helps them sense movement in the water.
- Salmon are one of the main prey species of killer whales.